

Blog Homework

To write your blog:

1. Go to <http://boarman.weebly.com> and click on reading blogs.
2. Follow the link to our blog.
3. Click on Reading on the right side.
4. Click on your initials.
5. Log in
6. Click on Articles at the top of your site.
7. Write a title and article.
8. Click Request publishing & Save

Blog Idea Menu

You are welcome to write about anything related to the book(s) you've been reading in the evenings/on weekends. Here are a few ideas to get your started:

Ideas for fiction books:

- Write a review of your book (5 stars or Thumbs up/down) with an explanation of your rating.
- Choose a character and pretend to be them.
 - Write a journal entry from the perspective of that character.
 - Write a letter from one character to another
 - While pretending to be the character write about the character's opinion on a major issue (homelessness, segregation, environmental issues, etc).
- Write about whether or not you would want to be friends with the main character of your book and why.
- Would you like to live during the time period of your book? Why or Why not?
- What was your favorite part or least favorite part?
- Research a topic that comes up in your book and post an article about it.
- Post definitions of really interesting words you found in your book.
- Propose a better title for the book.
- Propose a better ending for the book.
- Which character is the bravest, fairest, wisest, etc.
- How have the characters changed during the story.
- Would you read other books by this author?

Ideas for Non-fiction books:

- Write a review of your book (5 stars or Thumbs up/down) with an explanation of your rating.
- After reading the book what else would you like to learn about the topic?
- What special techniques did the author use to keep you interested?
- What text features were used in the book? What else could have been added to make it better?
- Write an article telling others interesting information you learned from reading the book.
- Would you read other books by this author?